New Council Has First Meeting

The Newmarket town council had its inaugural meeting Monday night and the traditional reception for council members by Clerk Wesley Brooks was held after adjournment at the King George hotel.

Rev. A. E. Petersen of the Church of the Nazarene spoke briefly and led the council in prayer at the meeting. Council heard congratulations from retiring councillor R. C. Morrison, Chief Constable Byron Burbridge, A. C. Lord and hydro commissioners Fred S. Thompson and William Young.

"I feel confident as a private citizen that town matters are in good hands," said Mr. Morrison. "Council is starting off the year right since, with this weather, Mr. Birrell has no heating problems in public buildings, Mr. Bowser has no snow and Mr. Evans has no water to worry about."

Fred Thompson said that Mr. Morrison had put much time and effort into the council. "When elected several years ago, he was the youngest man ever to be elected to Newmarket council," he said.

Mr. Thompson also gave a general report on the hydro commission in which he said that 114 new services had been installed during the year and 18 services changed. Thirty-five street lights had been added, 40 poles, 20 new transformers, 12 replaced, over 30,000 feet of wire apart from house services and the relaying of

Plane Not Lost In Heavy Fog

A four-engine aircraft spent more than a half-hour passing back and forth over Newmarket Tuesday evening just before dark. Mayor Jos. Vale, suspecting that the plane was in difficulty requested, that the town lights be turned on to give the pilot a bearing. There was little visibility in the air.

Town engineer Denne Bosworth phoned Malton airport and officials said that an aircraft was placed on a circuit in this area. The plane was on the circuit waiting for its turn to land at Malton. Officials expressed appreciation for the phone call although the craft was not in difficulty.

streets were completed. "We have been asked by the Ontario commission to leave the poles on Main St. until conversion is over. Apparently they can be used for supplying Newmarket while the power conversion is going on," he said. "Standards for Main St. lights are being ordered," said Mr. Thompson.

Council passed the customary new year money-borrowing by-law for $40,000 to carry the town expenses until taxes are collected.

Plan To Use Property For Parking Lot

It has been decided by the Aurora Board of Trade that the old Stevenson property on Yonge St. be turned over to the town as property for a free parking lot. At this same meeting, held last Wednesday night, it was decided that the assistance of the board was extended to the Hydro Commission in their effort to obtain land for a substation.

At the next meeting of the Aurora Board of Trade the original proposal to give the town the back half of the property next to the town hall will be considered and decided upon. After giving the town this land and allowing for a drive to the lot, there would be an area on Yonge St., 87 feet wide and 120 feet deep.

In supporting the Hydro Commission it was suggested that a recommendation be presented to the Aurora planning board and the Aurora public school board that the north 70 feet of the present public school lands be sold at the best price, but not less than $4,500. It was also pointed out that this property had been suggested as a possible site for the community centre.

It was also moved at the executive meeting of the Board of Trade that should the planning board and the public school board decide that the north 70 feet of the public school property be of more value for some other purpose that a special meeting be held of all interested town organizations to decide on a location for the new hydro substation and office.

For the parking lot, all but the front 120 feet of the south 87 feet will be turned over to the town and in the event no other land be found available for the Hydro Commission it was suggested that this area might be sold by the Board of Trade to the Hydro Commission for $3,000.

Aurora Without Crime Over Holiday Weekend

A second quiet holiday in as many weeks was ushered into Aurora and the local police force had no calls of serious nature. The provincial police had several calls to investigate accidents which were caused by icy roads and treacherous driving conditions.

New Year's Eve, the climax of the holiday festivities saw much excitement and entertainment in the town but no trouble of any type was recorded. Liquor violations were nil although there is more drinking done New Year's Eve than any other single night of the calendar year.

The exact opposite to last year's blinding snow storm was a heavy downpour of rain which froze on the streets and led the way for a blinding fog. Roads through Aurora and district were ice coated and for this reason many cars were kept in garages and on parking lots.

At Christmas, dry roads were attributed as being one of the reasons for no accidents but last weekend the only prevention of accidents was the thoughtfulness and the careful driving of Aurora motorists.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Hughston, Newmarket, who have been patients at York County hospital, returned to their home on Monday when they will both convalesce.

gested that this area might be sold by the Board of Trade to the Hydro Commission for $3,000.

WHITCHURCH RETURNS OLD COUNCIL

Whitchurch township electors returned the same council to office on Monday. Ed Logan was acclaimed reeve for his second year of office at the nomination meeting a week ago Monday and at the polls, Ivan McLaughlin was returned for his second year of office, defeating Alex. P. Campbell, a newcomer, 983 to 326. McLaughlin headed the polls.

The highest vote for a member of council went to P. S. Legge with 861. Fred Timbers was elected for his fifth year of office with 783 votes. R. C. Bayercroft with 782.

Defeated candidates were Stanley Rule, 492, and George Styles, 206.

Bad Luck Again Delays Aurora Ice

The jinx that has been keeping company with the installation of the artificial ice in the Aurora arena has struck again. This time, bad luck fell when the ice was on the rink and everything was ready for the scheduled opening Wednesday night.

Several ammonia leaks on the south side of the ice surface were discovered Wednesday morning, just hours away from opening time, and the ice surface had to be melted.

At first, plans were made to have the intermediate hockey team open the arena on Tuesday night, but this was postponed because the ice was not ready and opening was scheduled for Wednesday. Now with the leaks in the pipes, the junior games scheduled for tonight (Thursday) have been called off and it is expected that the minor hockey games scheduled for Friday night may also be postponed.

According to the John Inglis Company, contractors who undertook the installation of the refrigeration unit, the leaks would not take long to repair, but after the leaks are fixed another surface of ice has to be laid and with mild weather, this operation may take a day or two.

Tom Dixon, arena manager, Wednesday afternoon said that as soon as the pipes are repaired, the ice will be installed and opening will take place immediately.

The mild weather has been causing extra worries to fall on the shoulders of rink officials as the warmer the weather outside, the harder the freezing unit must work. With mild weather, it may take two days to lay a new coat of ice, but should the temperature drop it will be easier to freeze the new ice surface.

APPOINTED TO COMMISSION
Councillors Tom Birrell and J. O. Dales were appointed to the Newmarket Memorial arena commission by council on Monday night.

No accidents marred the holiday season in Newmarket this year. At town council meeting, Chief Constable Byron Burbridge said that the holiday season was perfectly quiet. Even New Year's weekend was free of accidents.

Air Lift Flyer In Review By King

Robert John Hall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hall, Newmarket, a Berlin air lift pilot, was chosen recently to represent his company on a review held by the King at the courtyard of Buckingham Palace.

The men marched from the palace to the Guildhall where they were received by the Lord Mayor at a luncheon. The prime minister and other dignitaries were present.

Hall flew four-engine freight aircraft on the lift, covering 100 missions. He lived in Newmarket for a short time before he joined the air lift.

Special Sewage Committee Set Up By Town Council

A new committee for sewage disposal was formed on the Newmarket council Monday night at its inaugural meeting. Mayor Jos. Vale said that it was the first time in 25 years that a special committee had been formed to deal with sewage problems.

"It is a very important committee and it involves a very large expenditure," said the mayor. "There will be a lot of work for the members of this committee."

While the various committees were being struck, councillors Evans and Bowser pointed out that two men made too small a committee for the finance and industrial committee. The tentative slate had several two-men committees listed.

Councillor VanZant said that he thought there should be at least three men on each. Councillor Paynter also wanted a third man on the road and bridge committee.

Said Councillor Bowser, "Not that I am looking for another job, but I think the chairmen of the road and bridge and the water committees should be on finance and industry since they would be involved in any industrial expansion work."

It was generally agreed that committees should not be too large. The larger the committee, it was said, the more difficult it would be to contact members for quick decisions. Reeve A. D. Evans and Mr. Bowser were added to the finance and industry committee.

The mayor pointed out that practically all detailed work is done by committees. The policy in general, he said, is determined by the whole council.

Record 714 Skaters Use Artificial Ice On Monday

Record crowds were skating at Newmarket Memorial arena on Monday. Arena manager Percy Hutchinson said this week that 714 people skated on artificial ice on Monday. There were 485 in the afternoon.

There were 1,200 at the Thursday night game last week. Mr. Hutchinson said that full wiring was being installed this week and that installation of exit lights will be carried out soon. The exit lights will be on an auxiliary hook-up in case power fails.

Council to Meet Each Monday in '50

A resolution to hold a regular council meeting every Monday night in the year was asked for by Mayor Vale at the opening council meeting. The mayor said that a meeting was held nearly every Monday last year and many of them had to be called specially. "There will be enough business in the next year to require a meeting every week. If there isn't, we can always cancel meetings," said Mr. Vale.

FINAL STAGE

Main St. Diabetic Canvas Started

The diabetes survey in Newmarket entered its final stage this week when canvassing was started on Main St. for clinic appointments. It is expected to take two months to complete the survey in the town.

This part of the survey is the most important phase and the survey committee under Dr. J. C. Cock hopes to maintain the high average that was established in testing all the schools and factories where 97 percent were tested.

The survey is to establish accurate figures on the incidence of diabetes in an average town.

The Hospital for Sick Children's Building Fund has reached a total of $3,423 in Newmarket this week. Cheques in the three Newmarket banks total $2,423 and added to that was a contribution from an Office Specialty Mfg. Co. factory contribution.

The campaign for funds ends this week to end a province drive for $4 million to complete the hospital's building program. An earlier appeal raised $8 million, including a total contribution of $12,020 from Newmarket. Since then, the cost of building has gone up increasing the hospital's building costs to $12 million.

Chairman of the Newmarket fund committee, George Byers, yesterday expressed appreciation for the generous support from Newmarket people. There is still time to make a contribution, said Mr. Byers.

Highlights of the current campaign in Newmarket have been the Office Specialty contribution, in addition to $2,500 contributed in the earlier drive. Davis Leather workers gave $400.

The three banks in Newmarket will accept contributions to the appeal. The Newmarket committee is sponsored by the Newmarket Lions club and other committee members are K. M. R. Stiver, Frank Courtney, Arthur D. Evans and John A. Meyer.

Mayor Joseph Vale has urged everyone to follow the slogan, "Give that a child may live." Newmarket children, being close to the Sick Children's hospital, and the advantages it provides, have benefitted greatly in the past.

Landing Firemen Fight Blaze, Save Home

Part of the residence of Arthur White at the north end of Holland Landing was gutted by fire early Monday morning. The rear section of the house was completely gutted but Holland Landing fire brigade volunteers with the aid of the fire truck purchased by the village last summer, were able to save the front section of the house from damage. The fire broke out at 3:30 a.m.

Norman Pearson, Holland Landing fire chief, said the source of the fire was near the chimney. Mr. White and some of the family were sleeping upstairs in the back section of the house and they were roused by Mrs. White and their daughter, Mrs. Orple, who were sleeping downstairs in the front section. They escaped just before flames swept through the kitchen and stairway.

Fire chief Pearson who was called by phone said that he believed it was not more than ten minutes before the fire truck arrived at the house with four men. Within 20 minutes over 20 men were there. "I would like to express appreciation for the response of the fire brigade and other people of the village," Mr. Pearson said on Tuesday.

A call was put in to Newmarket for assistance but was cancelled when the Holland Landing brigade put the blaze under control. Most of the furniture which was in the front section was saved. The greatest loss was in food supplies in the kitchen and pantry.

The fire truck was purchased from North York last summer. It carries 400 gallons of water. The fire brigade was able to put out the fire with the water that was carried by the truck.

Fire chief Pearson believes that if the house had burned down, another house 150 yards away would have caught fire, and the barn which is 75 yards away. In the neighboring house were six male patients of the Ontario hospital.

Crop Ass'n Plans Annual Meeting

In view of the critical hay and pasture situation of the past summer and prospects for further difficulties along the same line in 1950, the executive of the York County Crop Improvement Association is planning to feature discussions on this subject at its annual meeting at Newmarket on Friday, Jan. 6. The business session will commence sharp at 10:30 with lucky door prizes and hay pasture discussions will take place in the afternoon.

Lunch will be served free at noon and an interesting feature will be a number of sods taken from several pasture fields. Secretary, W. M. Cockburn, collected these last week during the mild spell and has them growing in a greenhouse in preparation for displaying at the annual meeting. Some are taken from prize winning fields in the Richmond Hill pasture competition.

The committee has been fortunate in securing as guest speaker Mr. D. H. Hart, Woodstock, an outstanding dairyman of Oxford county who is a recognized authority on hay and pasture problems as well as general farm management. Many of our farmers enjoy his regular articles in the farm press. He will speak on "Hay and pasture for 1950", a

Editor's Notebook

The Rockefeller Foundation has given former Prime Minister Mackenzie King $100,000 to finance his work upon his memoirs. Mr. King's papers are of great national interest. His active political life spanned a period of Canada's greatest development in which his role was always a large one.

Considering the significance of these papers, it is scarcely creditable to Canada that an United States charitable foundation must finance his work upon them. Surely Canada, with its assumption of adulthood, should also recognize its debt to its public men. The question is not whether Mr. King was right or wrong, good or bad. Mr. King was at the nation's helm through a series of national crises. Anything he can say about the events in which he was such a prominent participant is valuable. Since Mr. King retired, he has sought a certain amount of retirement from the public view and such is Canada's ingratitude towards its public figures, that retirement was graciously encouraged. It was as if the nation would be quit of him. Mr. King has never been a popular figure but only in Canada would he have been so forgotten.

Canadians look upon their politicians with a distrust. They accept the necessity of politicians, but popular opinion attributes little virtue to them. Why is it that way? Is it a national memory of bungling colonial officers and Family Compacts? Is it because so many Canadians have in their family a history of persecution by political and religious authorities or is it simply because, unlike the Americans, we have never made heroes of our founding fathers and thus begun a noble tradition of public service and leadership?

The Editorials:

Centralization Of Municipal Administrations

The town council has approved the membership of Newmarket in the proposed health unit for northern York county municipalities, but that approval was not without reservation. Both Mayor Vale and the medical officer of health, Dr. Lowell W. Dales, who is also experienced in municipal government, see in the formation of the health unit another long step towards the centralization of municipal administration in Queen's Park.

The principle underlying the establishment of a health unit is similar to that of the high school area: the financing of health services for several municipalities by proportionate contributions from participants in the unit. In this way, a higher standard of health service is established for all participating municipalities at a lower cost per capita than would otherwise be possible.

Newmarket has a public health nurse, a sanitary inspector, a medical officer, and a full program of health service to the citizens. Newmarket does not benefit particularly by membership in the unit. However, neighboring municipalities do not have this service. By joining the unit and throwing its support behind the scheme, Newmarket is helping to bring that service to those who are now without.

Newmarket, like other members of the unit, must forfeit however a certain amount of administrative control over its health services in favor of a board representative of all members of the unit. That, in itself, would not be a serious penalty. The objection to the unit raised by Mayor Vale and Dr. Dales arises from the fact that half of the cost of a health unit is paid by the provincial government which, with this payment, is able to exert a considerable influence upon the administration of the unit.

The province has moved steadily towards a domination of municipal administrations by giving financial assistance in growing measure. The provincial influence is indirect and does not become immediately obvious to the citizens. It is best exemplified in the efforts of the Newmarket and Sutton high school board to build new wings for both Newmarket and Sutton high schools. The provincial department of education will contribute heavily towards the cost of these wings. Indeed, without the province's assistance, it is doubtful whether the additional accommodation could be provided. But before the provincial grants are assured, the board must meet exacting conditions laid down by the province. Failure to satisfy the province means no grants.

In varying degrees, most, if not all, provincial grants are made only after conditions laid down by the province have been met, no matter what the project, whether it be the purchase of a highway grader or the operation of a health unit. Under these terms, the local municipal administrations find their powers of choice severely limited and the province in a position to increasingly dictate to local administrations.

In fairness to the province, this condition has come about in part through a breakdown in many instances of local self-government, through a system of taxation which directs enormous sums into provincial coffers from sources that the local municipalities are unable to tap for their own use, and through the increasing cost of municipal administration. Again, citing the instance of the high school area, it is doubtful that increased school accommodation could be conveniently provided by municipal taxation alone; provincial assistance is a necessity. And it is only reasonable that the province take steps to ensure that its money will be put to what it considers the best use. The conditions attached to all provincial grants we know of are intended to establish the highest standard possible. The rub is when the province and a local administration conflict on just what is the highest standard.

The trend towards provincial authority, once initiated, is not likely to stop. The board of municipal affairs is a fair indication of what is to be expected. The board has become increasingly interested in all phases of municipal administration although originally, its purpose was limited. The board exerts a tremendous influence upon local councils, so much so that a councillor recently remarked that "we have become nothing more than a rubber stamp for the municipal board."

Local councils still have plenty of scope in which to function as they choose but every indication points towards the exercise of more and more authority over municipal affairs by the province.

The state is the servant, not the master, of the people; the state is their guarantee against infringement on their rights, their agent in international and national issues; it is not the function of the state to assume the direction of those activities which rest on individual choice.

Office Cat reports
Catnips By Ginger

I am more convinced now that the ape friends of my contemporary, Bruce West, can look forward to the next half century more confidently than humans.

Monday night it was pointed out by a wire service that Britain and the United States may be on opposite sides of the fence in China. (China has a faculty for causing contradictions.) His Majesty's Gov't. is expected to recognize the Chinese Communists next week and at the same time the U.S. which formerly washed its hands of Chiang Kai Check, is unwashing them.

Former U.S. president, Hoover has even written a letter urging the defence of Formosa, a Nationalist hangout, by the U.S. navy.

We are all wondering if this could ever harm the staunch friendship between John Bull and Uncle Sam. Who knows? I'll bet the apes are really laughing these days.

Bruce says that the apes in the Congo are looking back this year on a fairly successful half century. As for humans, the past half century hasn't been anything to write home about. For the apes, the past 50 years have been quite peaceful and productive apart from a few shootings and other disturbances caused by visiting white men.

He says the boys out in the Congo almost fall out of their trees laughing whenever they hear reports of the latest follies of the so-called human race. Mother apes are scaring the dickens out of baby apes by telling them they'll turn into humans if they're not good.

The apes don't have very much but what they have is still more or less in one piece. They believe—and with good reason, he thinks—that when two apes or two persons start shooting at each other, the defeat is so permanent for the guy who loses. Apes have learned long ago that they really can't improve their fellow apes by killing them.

Although I don't expect the Americans and British will start shooting at one another again, I maintain that no one can be absolutely sure in these changing times. Anything is possible. Countries get so involved in being diplomatic that they become completely confused. I should think that some of the apes would make better diplomats than some diplomats. Come to think of it an ape would look well in a top hat stepping off a plane at Paris or Washington.

A diplomat is an amazing person. He tells you that black is white in such a way that you would bet your life he isn't lying. I often wonder what happens when two diplomats each believe the other is telling the truth. It is really too difficult to think out.

If H.M.'s Gov't. and the U.S. do get on opposite sides of the diplomatic fence in China, what will happen? How can they be this way on one side of the world and that way on the other side? I must get in touch with Manhattan Mouser and Lottie the cat in London for a true interpretation of the latest foreign policies.

Wasn't the fog terrible on the weekend!

The Top Six Inches

Do the farmers face their problems or do they, what might be termed, back into their problems, by always following precedent? When there is anything new brought before a farm group the farmer is always afraid if it has not been done before and may not work.

In our social and economic life many new things are being forced on people. We are told that the school board must pay the teacher a certain amount of salary and if they do not the township clerk is instructed to withhold the township school grant. Some group outside the township tells us how we should spend our own money and run our township business.

Because of the increase in population and the lack of teachers a commission on education recommends lowering the qualification standards for teachers. Would this give us a more sympathetic teacher? We often find clever people have no patience with those who are slow to understand.

In the revision of the school curriculum the backward pupil is going to be given a better chance. To put this new system in we will have to have sympathetic and understanding teachers. The teaching staff does not have to worry about wages. The school board is told what to pay. Free enterprise and competition seem to be words only and not allowed to work.

We are living in a controlled age and must bow to the fact that the weak must go down before the strong. On many articles the retail price is set for our merchants and if they don't comply they get no further supplies. Our combines act keeps a group of men employed to dig into business, and their findings are not pleasant to read. Prowar investigations showed farm machine companies producing a binder for $130 and selling it to the farmer for $281. Out of this amount only $22 went to labor. We have many farmers claiming labor is the bad boy.

There are no postwar figures on farm machinery available. As this is written a broadcast says housewives can look for a six-cent price cut in pork next week. The packers made an announcement that all packers will cut the price at the same time. Tires, battery, gasoline, and many other things change in price all over the country the same day. And we have plenty of people who think and talk competitive buying and selling. Our whole milk producers have price fixing. The only difference between what the combines investigate bring out and our milk producers is that one is in the open and one under cover. Both are price fixing.

Those farmers who are fortunate enough to be shipping whole milk and have part of their income under control should show some interest in getting the rest of the farm economy under control. We can't expect a lower grain price till next harvest. If the present grain stock price is lowered the export market will pick up our grain.

Poultry and pork is in for a real slump. A man with a litter of pigs must buy feed at a high price with no prospect of getting the cost of the feed back. The same applies to a flock of chickens. If a farmer tries to get out by shipping in light hogs he is fined $5 per 100 lbs.

We farmers had better take our loss and knock the pigs in the head. Why put feed in hogs and run a chance of not getting the price of our feed? This is a real pleasant thought for starting the new year. Cheerio.

HOPPING WITH BETTY

Perk Up That Tired Wardrobe

We saw some gay little printed reeper dresses for under your coat now and right through to spring. A wonderful way to perk up a tired wardrobe. These backgrounds of black, navy, brown, grey and blue. For the more mature figure a youthful style dress was in marine blue reeper printed in soft blues, grey and rose. The neckline was a combination Chinese and slit and the skirt boasted unpressed pleats and pocket detail. This dress is one of the advance spring styles and may be purchased in Newmarket.

—B—
Still have some of that Christmas cheque left? We saw a beautiful Royal Winton coffee set in a Newmarket shop. It consisted of a six-cup coffee pot, cream and sugar in a creamy color with moss rose style flower trim and 22 carat gold handles and spout. A dainty tea set was in Lady Alexander Rose and is open stock.

—B—
Are your hands and nails lovely to look at or just a bit grimy and rough? We saw a most little plastic manicure brush with nylon bristles on Main St. that does a wonderful job. These are in lovely shades of yellow, blue, green and crystal. Buy one to match your hair brush and use it just as faithfully.

—B—
If the weather is getting you down why not try a new hat. One that particularly caught our eye in a store in Newmarket was a frost white fur felt with fluffy wine coq feather and nylon veiling trim. Made on cloche lines it covered one ear completely—very new and delightful.

—B—
A tip from Betty: If your hair is a bit oily and lustreless try putting a clean old nylon stocking over your hairbrush when you brush your hair. You'd be surprised at the difference in the appearance of your "crowning glory."

CRIBBAGE AT LEGION HALL.
On Thursday night, Dec. 29, a cribbage was held in the Legion Hall, Aurora. Although not a large crowd was there, all had a good time and are looking forward to the next one on Thursday, Jan. 9. Come and bring your friends.

The prizewinners are: ladies' high, Mrs. Joan Heard; gentlemen's high, Mr. Roy McDonald; high at point in one hand, Mr. A. J. L.

ATTWELL NETS SIX
Last week's action in the Optimist bantam league looked strictly like a two-man show. Tee Pee hung up a 6-2 win over the Flyers. Where the two men show came in was with Bob Attwell setting an early record, mark to pop in all six goals for the winners. Bob Broadbent countered with both tallies credited to the Flyers.

GAME FOGGED OUT
That thick pea soup that settled over the countryside during the long holiday weekend caused postponement of the Spitfires' tussle with East Coast club at Nobleton on Monday. Both teams rather than risk a crack up en route to Nobleton decided to forget their game for a later date.

In the passing of Almeda Cutting on Dec. 13, Pottageville lost one of its oldest and best loved residents. Daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Shropshire, she was born north of Schomberg but had lived most of her married life in Pottageville.

The funeral service was held in the United church on Saturday, Dec. 17. WINTER FOG says

Tonight, as I sit here at my writing table, wondering what to write about and listening off and on to the Toronto election returns, I have a queer, eerie feeling, for everything out-of-doors is shrouded in fog and nothing whatever seems to be moving anywhere. An occasional car goes by but the sound of its motor seems muffled and a sort of mysterious silence pervades everything! Old Puss is cuddled up close to me in the back of my chair—there's room for us both, for I always sit in a good-sized chair here at my writing table and he gets in behind me—as if the comfort of contact with a human being helps counteract the weather. Cats are so sensitive to weather! He has consistently refused to stay outside to-day and has followed me around everywhere I went, just as if he knew of this depressing fog coming.

Somebody on the radio called it a London pea soup fog. What's that old slogan we used to say—should I say slogan? I don't know how else to describe it, but here's how it goes: "a winter's fog would kill a dog"—and while I am on old trite sayings, what about this: "when the wind is in the east it's good for neither man nor beast".

I keep hopping up to have a look to see if I can see across the road, for I could not a while ago, and the electric lights all down the street, opposite our home, looked like tiny candles, only they did not flicker of course.

I have heard a couple of cars within the past few minutes so I judge the fog is clearing somewhat and just now I was talking to my neighbors on the phone, just since I wrote about the lights looking like candles, and they have just reached home and said what a time cars are having on Yonge St. South—and how more than glad they were to be safely home out of it! I hope it has not spoiled the memory for them of the New Year weekend spent with their relatives.

The election results still keep coming in—it seems quite certain that the majority have voted for Sunday sports and overwhelming! I think election day will be earlier. I always thought New Year's Day was not a very auspicious day for voting—for who wants to bother with candidates during Christmas week, or listen to election speeches? Newmarket saw the light years ago—well, naturally, for see what a progressive town we are!

Good old Newmarket—we deserve our artificial ice and now maybe next summer will see the much desired swimming pool become a reality. Why not? It is very close to Mayor Vale's heart, I believe, for he was bitterly disappointed last summer when it failed to materialize.

How the town's young folk enjoyed the skating on Fairy Lake—it made me long to be "sweet 16" again so I, too, could enjoy that perfect ice? It froze over and then we had several mild, sunny days so even the little ones could safely try out their new Christmas bob skates and not freeze their tiny toes and fingers? Skating like that, in the open air, on such perfect ice, is a wonderful tonic for young and old. What appetites it creates! What shining eyes and rosy cheeks! Many a delightful skate I have had there in days gone by—so is it any wonder I thought that the filling up of our beloved "pond" was one of the outstanding events of 1933?

I hope this rainy, foggy weekend has not put a crimp in Happy Hogmanay parties! You know the Scotch people call New Year's Day by that quaint name, Hogmanay, and they exchange gifts then instead of at Christmas. The late Jim Hunter, news-caster for so many years, used to always end his New Year's broadcast with the old New Year's "Lang may your lum reek!" If you don't know what that means, ask me sometime, or ask any Scotch person and I can just see how their eyes will shine and twinkle as they tell you all it means is—oh, I nearly told you didn't I? Let's hear you guess, if you don't really know. So I say to you all, this New Year's Monday night, "Lang may your lum reek!"

THE HOMEMAKERS
Make The Most Of Eggs

Just now, the price of eggs is lower than it has been for some time so we should make the most of the opportunity and use eggs often. Eggs sold in Canada must be graded as to quality and size. The grade mark is your guide to value. Eggs displayed at room temperature or in store windows drop rapidly in grade. Whenever possible, buy eggs from merchants who keep them under refrigeration. Keep eggs in the carton or container in a cool place, preferably the refrigerator and away from highly-flavored foods. It is better to purchase not more than one week's supply at a time.

For eggs cooked in the shell, commonly called "boiled eggs", heat water to boiling point, add eggs and place saucepan over low heat where water will be kept just below boiling point. For soft-cooked eggs, allow eight to ten minutes' cooking. A hard-cooked egg will be more tender if allowed to cook slowly in water below the boiling point, for at least 30 minutes. Extreme heat toughens egg-whites. To remove shells easily, plunge hard-cooked eggs in cold water as soon as cooked.

Please God! Not to Mine!

Not to mine, this horrible crippler:
Not to mine this thing with the long scientific name, poliomyelitis, this thing that means misery and pain in the language of the little ones.
Not to mine to wear a brace, to hobble, to limp:
Not to mine to hear the laughter of others, to watch them at play, to cry the bitter tears of childhood lost forever.
Please God! Not to mine!
And let me help those to whom it does come, this crippler, this destroyer.
Let me give to help the helpless:
Let my dollars and my prayers go with these little ones; that some day, some time, children everywhere will walk without fear, free of childhood's greatest enemy, Poliomyelitis.
I am glad I have the privilege of giving to the Canadian March of Dimes.

The Common Round...

YULETIDE LINGERS

The pomp and ceremony, the glitter and glow, the scent of cedar and good Christmas cooking are gone, but the remembrance of what made Christmas all this and more, lingers on.

It is a wonderful and a beautiful thing, that in the hectic, grim and war weary years, we have just passed through, that the spell of Christmas is just as effective—perhaps more so, than when peace and a more common place situation faced us.

Perhaps all the tragedy—the world sickness we are living through has made the Star of Bethlehem burn brighter. One felt it in the Christmas congregation.

The other half of the family and I felt it in our own church as the great congregation sang the old familiar carols—those joy songs of the ages. It was Christmas from the arc of glowing color around the chancel railing, formed by Mrs. Elgin Evans' poinsettias, to the star that glowed above the organ; from the music of the choir to the message of Christmas hope and cheer with which Mr. Cotton sent us on our way; from the croche where Joseph kept watch over the Blessed Mother and Divine Child to the children bearing gifts. And as I watched the processional in the evening, up the long candle-lighted aisles, one felt that here was something basic—that the foundation of a life or a church of which the Christ Child was the corner stone, could never be shattered. They might tremble and be enveloped in gloom, but the radiance that streamed from the little town of Bethlehem would light the way back to the Father's house.

We felt the same thrill when we attended the midnight mass at St. John's church on Christmas Eve.

One felt and joined in the ecstatic devoutness of the huge congregation, light and joy and Christmas gladness poured from the exquisitely decorated altar to the grotto where the Holy Family reposed. I love to watch the faces of the little lads in the processional and hope they can keep the memory of these Christmas vigils when they come to the larger life. The carols and the responses rang out with Christmas joy and Father McCabe's message of goodwill and faith lifted us into the Christmas joy. Yes, the excitement and the glow have gone and now New Year's Day is drawing to a close and we look down the unknown, untrodden road of 1950. There will be pitfalls and times of testing for each of us as individuals and for Canada as a nation taking her place in the sun, but nothing can obscure the Star of Bethlehem and the angel's message is as true now as 1950 years ago—we can paraphrase the carol and say God rest us merry Christmas folk, let nothing us dismay.

PANSIES FOR CHRISTMAS

Mrs. Tess Gilkes, Timothy St., picked a small bouquet of pansies for table decorations from her garden on Christmas day. On Tuesday of this week, Mrs. Gilkes said that there were a few more pansies in the garden in bloom.

EVENING AUXILIARY MEETS

YOUNG HOPEFULS BY DOROTHY MUIR BOWMAN

Work Improves Talent

Gary, teenager, has a natural talent for clever impersonations of movie actors; but he hates to memorize lines.

With the talent that Gary possesses, there is no need for memory work as far as script in plays is concerned. Actually, he has the ability to so live the parts that he portrays just to amuse himself and his friends—that he should be acclaimed a born actor.

If Gary were cast in a suitable part in a play, his characterization would start to live within him—and after a clear conception of his relation to the play and the other characters was established, Gary would soon start thinking as his character is supposed to think. Once an individual thinks as the character he portrays, lines come quite naturally—unforced and unmemorized. Though at first the lines may not be the preferred ones of the author; at least, they are appropriate and adequate cue lines for the next speaker.

Just as Gary has the ability to think as the character he is portraying, so has he the ability to feel as the character he portrays. This ability to feel as another character, facilitates actions that are consistent with the character.

Gary is such a clever impersonator, that a director of plays should help minimize the difficulty he has in learning lines. After Gary understands the play as a whole and each and every scene in which he is involved, he should be cued for lines and expected to have an answer—though no stress put on the exact words of the author until Gary decides he prefers the author's lines to his own.

When Gary has reached that point, he can cue himself by covering his lines and reading the cue lines that precede his speeches. He will find that this isn't such an arduous task as he supposes, and on the nights of the performance, he will be well repaid for his efforts.

There is no mistaking the actual advantages the natural-born actor possesses; yet, frequently, he needs help and encouragement to make the best use of his talents.

IT'S A Woman's World

By CAROLINE E. ION

For one night in the year at least, the brunette outshines the blonde. On New Year's Eve it is the brunette who is welcomed according to the old Scottish tradition of "first footers". A brunette coming first to your home in the New Year is supposed to bring good luck throughout the year and so it is that blondes and redheads take second place at that time.

Of course the first-footers must not come empty-handed, but should cross the threshold with a gift. Usually this gift takes the form of pieces of cake or coins. However, in many parts of Cape Breton, the recognized proper gift for a first-footer to bring is a hunk of coal. Perhaps this custom arose because of the abundance of cheap coal there and thus the gift had an added Scottish appeal in the tradition of the Scots.

Dinners, house parties and public dances marked the Newmarket celebration of the arrival of 1950. With New Year's Eve falling on Saturday parties had to come to a halt a bare few minutes after the midnight hour. For others, the night to celebrate proved to begin at 12.05 on Monday morning.

For those who chose the former the weatherman had a drizzling rain and slippery highways.

On the following night there was a fog which would have done justice to any Atlantic or Pacific locality. Old Man Weather seems to enjoy his celebrations on this gay night of nights as much as do the human beings who bemoan his handiwork for last year most celebrants found their automobiles snowed under and taxis at a premium.

From all reports the annual New Year's Eve dance sponsored by the Lions club was a great success. From such activities the organization raises its funds to continue its service work in the community. A very large crowd enjoyed the dancing and all the merriment which goes to make a New Year's Eve party.

Looking back over the past year from the threshold of 1950—the mid-mark of the century—we realize once again how busy has been the lot of women in Newmarket. In their annual reports, practically all of the women's organizations showed more activities, more enthusiasm and larger memberships than in past years. In all of them was a note of confidence that the next year would be even better.

That is as it should be for it is only through a quickened interest in all that concerns the community that the women of Newmarket can achieve their aims. It has been an encouraging year for those holding executive positions for they have been able to welcome the arrival of new members to their organizations, ones which not only help to swell the membership, but are willing to work.

It isn't necessary to name here the many women's groups in town which have performed valuable services to the community—you are aware of them, not only through our reports of their activities, but also, because you form their membership. Beginning this month will be the women's share of the community diabetes survey and as in other ventures we prophesy that the co-operation will be 100 percent from all the women of Newmarket.

Well, we can't let New Year's day come and go without making our list of resolutions. Heading the list is the one which probably rates first place on every newspaper reporter or columnist's list—early copy.

Resolution No. 1. To get my copy in early every week.

Resolution No. 2. To remember to change the ribbon on the typewriter before the linotypes have to read the best sellers in Braille.

Resolution No. 3. To check that doubtful spelling with a reference to Webster rather than to my own unique spelling system.

Canadians are thinking of tomorrow

DEPOSITS AT THE B of M
HAVE Doubled in 10 years
— NOW TOTAL MORE THAN TWO BILLION DOLLARS

This huge sum is a tribute to Canadians' foresight and thrift.

Ten years ago, B of M customers kept a total of $448,865,350 in their savings and current accounts. During the war years, these people took the opportunity to boost their 'Fund For Tomorrow' to $1,613,000,000.

Their habit of saving for the years ahead has not only persisted since the war but has gained in strength. Today, their deposits stand at more than two billion dollars — an all-time B of M record and the largest Canadian deposits of any bank. Of this money, well over a billion dollars is in savings.

The fact that the B of M's resources also have topped the two-billion mark during the past year proves one thing clearly — that the size of a financial institution such as the Bank of Montreal simply reflects the measure of confidence a million and a half Canadian men and women share in it.

And by thinking of tomorrow, these people are helping to build the Canada of today and tomorrow. For their savings determine the support the Bank can bring — through investments and loans — to the enterprise of men and businesses across the nation. Indeed, this year, loans made by the B of M are the highest they've ever been.

Working with the people of Canada for the past 132 years, the Bank has kept continually before it these two guiding purposes — to assist actively the nation's economic development and to justify all ways the confidence of its depositors.

Spits Trim Bradford For Second Victory

The Spitfires are on their way. They made it two straight last Thursday by skating to a 9-4 win over Bradford before some 1,300 fans at the arena. The win moved the Spits into first place in the league standing at this early stage of the race. Game, though spotty in spots, didn't lack action. First one team then the other applied the pressure to bottle up the opposition in their own defense zones. Superior condition, a slicker attack plus the fact the Spits wasted few opportunities brought the victory home to roost.

Stan Gibbons, a going concern up front, Bill Johnston and Harv Gibney led the scoring for a pair each. Harold Tunstead, Bill Mabbet and Don Smith rapped in single markers for the Smith coached clan.

"Mutt Never say die" Collings sparked Bradford rifling in their first goal smack off a face-off in the Spits' zone. "Mutt" also climbed onto the band wagon with a duo of assisting efforts. Joe Magani, Bill Boychoff and Don Willson potted the other Bradford tallies. "Chuck" Nesbitt, our ex-army Markham flash, supplied the pass on Wilson's late marker.

Joe Tunney played a bang-up game in front of rigging for the Spits, to earn his place in the three-star selection. Norm Legge took up a wing position with his two buddies, Bill Johnston and Don Smith.

EAST COAST HERE TONIGHT

Stan Smith's group leading Spitfires will attempt to make it three straight here tonight. East Coast, Senior B entry in the Metro loop provides the opposition. To date the Coasters haven't fared too well in the Metro loop. As yet, in fact, haven't hit the win column. They'll break the jinx. Rumors are current they'll be stronger from now on. Tonight should tell.

Alberta has the most extensive coal deposits of any Canadian province.

NEWS 'N' VIEWS

By GEORGE HASKETT

ERA AND EXPRESS SPORTS EDITOR

Features were grand switcheroo previous week Ken. "Motts" Thoms and Irv. Stepak were decked out in Spits uniforms. They climbed to the other side Thursday to play with Bradford. Two sixteen-year-olds with the visiting puck-men, that's Elmo Philip and John Gasko, did right well. Both played midjet last year. Philip had a try-out with Hap Emm's Barrie Junior "A's" last fall. Last Bradford goal typical Don. Wilson special. Wilson couldn't have had more than a shadow to shoot at but picked the corner neatly. Norm Legge who missed the first game owing to a shoulder injury, made his initial appearance with the Spits.

Haskett's Hash: No definite date set for the official opening of the arena. Committee is now endeavoring to tie up a date suitable for a couple of junior A teams. Several figure skating acts also billed. Barrie one of the A teams. Opposition not definite yet. If it goes through should be worth a buck of anyone's dough. Ivan Law, Zephyr hockey man and a rabid Sutton supporter, won the suit of clothes put up by the Green-shirts. Lucky. Dewey Kuhns returned Tuesday after holidays spent at home with the family in Baltimore. Missed the Spits' first two contests—should be a regular customer from here in. Close to 900 donned skates Monday, afternoon and evening, for a whirl at the arena. That must be a record. Twelve hundred was the official count for the Thursday to do with Bradford—beat Sutton attendance by a whisker. Nice going Mr. Hines. Program for games added the final touch. Lucky number with each one for every game and a chance on a suit of clothes at the end of the season. What's this? Chas. VanZant a hockey man?—yes indeed. "Peaches" heads the Town League set-up. His right-hand man is Grant Blight. Mercantiles have done the right thing. Draw the line on use of O.H.A., O.M.H.A. and O.R.H.A. players. Already Merchants have other teams talking to themselves. Looks like the team to whip. Postponed games piling up in the Metro loop like all-get-out. Aurora and Navy Vets have played once, Spits, Bradford and Sutton twice, East Coast have four under their belts. Schedule looks like the wreck of old 97. League possibly will meet this week to try and work something out. Metro League players can earn themselves a trophy this winter. More cups up than you can shake a stick at. One for most valuable player via Bradings Brewery, one for leading scorer via our vice-president, Harold Rogers, Marigold Cup for goalkeeper with least goals scored against, and still another, the Dyer Trophy for most gentlemanly player. Looks like us experts, so called, will have to go into a huddle or form a union. What say friends, Hulse, Williams, Collings and Sheppard?

There all this coming week. Imposing list of games. Town League springs into action Monday, 7:30 — Davis vs. Specialty, Hoffman vs. Merchants — nuff said. Midjets and juveniles open Stoutville Tuesday. Mickey Smith Legion midjets go at 7 chimes, juveniles follow at 9. Thursday coach Stan. Smith will be out after win three. East Coast the opposition. Sounds like a busy week.

Davis Specialty Game Opens Town League

The feudin', fussin' and fightin' starts January 9, Davis Leather vs. Office Specialty. That does sound like old times. Town league is all set for a comeback. In the second half of the double feature attraction Canadian Hoffman will match strides with the Town Merchants. First game is scheduled for 7:30 p.m.

At the organization meeting of the Town Mercantile League held at arena last Friday the following officers for the year were elected: hon. presidents, D. J. Kuhns, D. J. Hutchings, G. L. Manning and Max Smith. President is Charlie VanZant, secretary-treasurer Grant Blight. A four-man board of governors and protest committee were chosen composed of Ray Jelley, Pete Neufeld, Barney Revell and "Ceegars" McDonald.

One main motion designed to keep four teams on an even keel is that no players playing on O.H.A., O.M.H.A. or O.R.H.A. team are eligible for town league competition.

Another motion also restricts the Merchants team to players residing within the corporation limits of the town of Newmarket. The league intends to run a triple schedule and will play double-headers at the arena each Monday evening.

An Aurora Opinion

By

RAY WILLIAMS

Aurora Editor

Turkeys, nine cents a pound; butter, 14 cents a pound; chickens, two for 50 cents; cabbages, 30 cents a dozen; potatoes, 80 cents a bag. No, that's not make believe. That was Aurora back in 1887, or so it said in a 63-year-old copy of The Aurora Borealis we read recently.

Those old papers really carry hours and hours of good reading when they have been dug out of somebody's cellar after about 50 years. In the old Borealis we glanced through, we read a story about the Aurora Fire Brigade going to Orillia for a competition with Bradford and outrunning the Bradford firemen, hooking up 250 feet of hose faster than the opposition and returning home amid the cheers of the townsfolk who gathered at Wellington and Yonge to greet the victorious heroes.

No one needed medical aid in those days with patent medicine that could be taken either internally or externally and was said to be a never failing cure for sudden colds, chills, congestion, stoppage of circulation, cramps, pains in the stomach, summer and bowel complaints, sore throat, sprains, bruises, rheumatism, neuralgia, swelled face, toothache, burns and frost bites, etc. In the advertisement about this medicine it warned customers to beware of imitations. And although the advertisement didn't say, we think that this wonderful well-maker could also be used as a cocktail mix, and likely was the counterpart of today's rubbing alcohol.

At the present time everyone is talking of juvenile delinquents but according to The Borealis, there were pretty wild teenagers back in '87 because there was a note about some "rowdies" stealing the lunches of Toronto excursionists and went on to say that the reputation of the town was at stake if such activities were carried on.

At the present time, everyone is worrying about the completion of the artificial ice rink, the new school proposals and several other big plans but again we turn back to 1887 when the businessmen on Yonge St. were trying to get awnings put up on Yonge St. so that shoppers would not be bothered by the snow or rain. Some of the store-owners had them put up. They were, B. Richardson, Jeweller; R. J. Scanton, baker; John Row, boots and shoes; John Tracy, merchant tailor; Frank York, druggist; Borealis, printers, and James Whitmore, merchant.

Those who were around in 1887 will probably recall that W. J. Fleury left with the Canadian gentlemen cricketers for London and in the Borealis it said the Englishmen would have to be on their toes to handle the Canadians, especially with an Aurora man in their personnel.

Today, unions of all types, plumber, unsmiths, bricklayers, automobile and steelworkers hold their weapon, the strike, and

Several of the main cogs on the good Bradford club of last season have joined the Canaltowners and "Ceegars" is figuring far ahead in a master plan that includes other years. Minor grouping sees Keswick, Beaverton and Unionville in a juvenile D series. Aurora and Stoutville of C rating perform with Newmarket classed as B. In the midjet series, Richmond Hill, Aurora and Stoutville are in one class with Newmarket again in B to complete a four-team set-up.

Hal Rogers calls to remind you that next Tuesday night there'll be a Metro feature at the arena with Bradford as opposition. Rogers is mighty pleased at the fact that Bert Mayrand, genial host at Graystones, has accepted the club presidency and thrown his weight behind the club.

Tom Dickson, the Aurora arena manager, has contracted with the Toronto hockey league for every Monday night from now to the end of April and the transient hockeyists will have five games on tap next Monday night.

Sunday sports was approved by "Toronto the good" by the voice of the majority in a large vote. Without going into the controversies pro and con, the result came as a surprise, as the "no" forces had plenty of financial backing, the support of three dailies and a radio and newspaper campaign that featured a regular "who's who" in Toronto life. The "no" campaign, however, in its method of approach to the problems used many far-fetched arguments which spoiled their most weighty ones. The public refused to swallow the bait. Actually, since thousands of tenants, boarders, etc., had no vote at the election on a percentage poll of population the "yes" forces would win going away. The success or failure of the Sunday sports program in Toronto will have a big effect on the rest of Ontario. Western and Northern Ontario have had Sunday sports in varying degrees for years, without too much fuss or fanfare either way.

Stoutville arena shareholders settled the question of Sunday hockey practices last week with a vote in favor of allowing private practices only. The same question is due to arise at Aurora and Newmarket now that there is artificial ice, as it did on certain occasions during the

CALL FOR JUVENILES
The last and final call. All kids interested in trying out with the Hoffman Spitfires juveniles are asked to be at the rink at 8 p.m. tomorrow, Friday evening. Coach "Ceegars" McDonald doesn't want anybody to be missed so be on deck if you want to try out with the team.

On The Alleys

Striding into 1950 town league standing is as follows, Legion 34, Hiseys 31, Denne Electric 28, Combines 25, Specialty 23, Met-eors 21, Benders 20, Turkey Catchers 20, Dixon's 20, Metal Workers 18, Clover Kickers 16, Bankers eight. Cyril Keals (Meteors) led the individual marks Tuesday as the league swung back into action after a two weeks' rest with a 720, produced by games of 246, 224 and 250. Ang Smith (Dixons) spilled the pines for 680. Next in order were Charlie Yates (Turkey Catchers) with 613 and Frank Newton (Turkey Catchers) with 608.

Roy Bennett's with 22, Tom Scott's with 20. Geo. Phinlister's sextette has finally vacated the cellar with 17 points and turned it over to Art Peppiatt's keggers who have 16 at the moment.

Holidays over, all the leagues will be swinging back into regular action. We'll try to keep you up to date on the situation.

Midgets, Juveniles On Ice Tuesday

Hoffman Spitfire juveniles are grouped with Aurora and Stoutville. The powers that draw up the schedule aren't wasting any time in sending the team into action. Next Tuesday the Spitfires don their hockey equipment for a go at Stoutville at the arena. Incidentally Bob Murray has moved into the management and Howard "Weldner" Newton has forsaken this position for a post on the executive. It goes without saying coach "Ceegars" McDonald has his boys hungry for a win in their first start.

This will be part of a double-header attraction. "Mickey" Smith will fire his Legion Midjets into a tussle with Stoutville Midjets in their curtain-raiser at 7 chimes. The Legion is grouped with Aurora, Stoutville and Richmond Hill. Better forsake the fireside for a visit to the arena Tuesday. You won't regret the excursion.

DOWN THE CENTRE BY AB HULSE

Hawks May Have Needed Tonic

Nifty 50 is the general way the New Year is being described, and we hope Tuesday found you feeling in keeping with the slogan. It's been a few weeks since the Hawks occupied our attention and since then they've suffered two crushing defeats, one 11-1 wallop from North Toronto Lions, the other a 3-2 loss to Weston Mariboros. This may be just the tonic needed to settle the kids into stride and deflate a few early season egos, or it may mean the Aurora lads are not as strong as was thought a few weeks ago.

Rumor has it that all has not been well in deciding general club policy, and in the dressing room but this probably will do a lot of good, having happened before the season gets underway and before the chips are really down. The Hawks have a powerful Junior C club if they get good net minding and coaching but it's a long rocky road to the championship.

Bill Allen called to remind you that Aurora juveniles will meet Newmarket juveniles in an OM 11A fixture at Aurora as soon as it can be arranged. Allen and Harry Jones are sure they have two good clubs, once they get a chance to see them go, but the truth is that with no ice available, the kids will be starting from scratch, whereas "Ceegars" McDonald and Mickey Smith have had several practices at least.

Several of the main cogs on the good Bradford club of last season have joined the Canaltowners and "Ceegars" is figuring far ahead in a master plan that includes other years. Minor grouping sees Keswick, Beaverton and Unionville in a juvenile D series. Aurora and Stoutville of C rating perform with Newmarket classed as B. In the midjet series, Richmond Hill, Aurora and Stoutville are in one class with Newmarket again in B to complete a four-team set-up.

Hal Rogers calls to remind you that next Tuesday night there'll be a Metro feature at the arena with Bradford as opposition. Rogers is mighty pleased at the fact that Bert Mayrand, genial host at Graystones, has accepted the club presidency and thrown his weight behind the club.

Tom Dickson, the Aurora arena manager, has contracted with the Toronto hockey league for every Monday night from now to the end of April and the transient hockeyists will have five games on tap next Monday night.

Sunday sports was approved by "Toronto the good" by the voice of the majority in a large vote. Without going into the controversies pro and con, the result came as a surprise, as the "no" forces had plenty of financial backing, the support of three dailies and a radio and newspaper campaign that featured a regular "who's who" in Toronto life. The "no" campaign, however, in its method of approach to the problems used many far-fetched arguments which spoiled their most weighty ones. The public refused to swallow the bait. Actually, since thousands of tenants, boarders, etc., had no vote at the election on a percentage poll of population the "yes" forces would win going away. The success or failure of the Sunday sports program in Toronto will have a big effect on the rest of Ontario. Western and Northern Ontario have had Sunday sports in varying degrees for years, without too much fuss or fanfare either way.

Stoutville arena shareholders settled the question of Sunday hockey practices last week with a vote in favor of allowing private practices only. The same question is due to arise at Aurora and Newmarket now that there is artificial ice, as it did on certain occasions during the natural ice period. The arena commissioners and the municipal owners had better decide that policy right now. Stoutville is a private enterprise, but after all it does operate in a village that is under municipal control. The general picture is that there doesn't seem to be many artificial ice plants except in the big cities which don't have Sunday practices. Settle the question as you see fit.

Roundelay: Art White, son of "Bunny" White, formerly of Richmond Hill and a nephew of those two old favorites, "Rusty" and "Al" White, is a member of Weston Mariboros and headed for bigger things in the Leafs family. Two younger brothers are wowing them with the Dukes midjet team. Bob Lawrie, ex-Markham Millionaires, is now refereeing regularly in the T.H.L. series. Among other whistle-tooters working in the same circuit who have local connections are Wild Bill Roberts and Bing Caswell. Roberts was the bulwark of the Newmarket intermediate defence in the 30's and later played with Sutton Green-shirts. Caswell will be remembered for his work at Brampton and Newmarket camps. Hal Capra, who played with Aurora Juniors in 1942, is a member of the Naval Vets club performing in the Metropolitan league. Bud Watson, formerly of Unionville and brother of Jackie Watson, has been up for a couple of games with Stratford junior A club and looked mighty good.
